Climate Change Masterclasses for Community Groups

About the masterclass

As part of the Victorian Government's commitment to assist Victoria's community groups to engage on climate change, Sustainability Victoria are holding 5 Masterclasses across regional Victoria. The sessions will be co-facilitated with successful community group Strathbogjie Voices.

This is a unique opportunity for community groups and members to further develop their skills in community engagement on climate change. At these half day sessions you will review current community engagement activities, be introduced to fresh ideas to reinvigorate your group and help build your skills in having a climate change conversation. This is also a chance to network and share ideas, learn how to add some pizzazz to meetings and bolster your groups reach.

Each masterclass is an 'all-in-one' event; choose the date and location that works best for you.

At the masterclass you will

- › Learn fresh and engaging ways to talk about climate change
- › Connect with other groups to network and share ideas
- › Work through the challenges when engaging with your broader community
- › Learn successful techniques to work with council, business and community
- › Gain motivation techniques so attendees become involved and put their hand up to assist
- › Share ideas for a variety of events and options for meeting topics and guest speakers

Feel free to share this invitation with other groups you feel would like to attend, just ask them to RSVP as below.
